

Hello all,

With much consideration, I have decided that coaching volleyball this upcoming year will not be a good fit for me. This has been a very hard decision for me. I went back and forth with it for many weeks. Along with many things to consider, my new job will be much busier in the fall than the rest of the year, and it would be difficult to fit everything in. I have come to the resolution that I have been doing too much for too long and need to cut out some of the responsibilities I have taken on. I would rather be excellent at a few things than just ok at many. I truly care about the volleyball program and everything we have been working toward over my years of coaching. I would like to offer my help and guidance to whoever takes over to ensure that the transition goes as smoothly as possible.

Sincerely,
