Re: Proposal to hire student workers

HLWW School Board,

We recently received the resignation from a member of our technology support team. As we wish this staff member the best, we also need to make plans for completing various technology projects in their absence while we search for a successor.

To that end, I recommend presenting this as an opportunity to our high school students during this interim period. We would advertise the position generally to the students, collect applications and select workers from the applicants. These workers would work on supporting the technology team with general work assignments (e.g. wire pulling, clean up, organizing assets, etc.). Also, they would work limited hours per week, based on the job tasks that need to be completed. The workers would continue until a new, full-time employee can be hired.

Students would not have access to protected information nor access to sensitive systems.

Sincerely,

Nate Walbruch
