New Administrator Introductions

David Manley, Lake Belton High School

David Manley has been named principal of Lake Belton High School in Belton ISD. With 37 years of experience in public education, he has served as a teacher, coach, principal, executive director and assistant superintendent.

Most recently, Manley served as a Texas Strategic Leadership executive coach with Education Service Center Region 6. He is known for developing strong leaders, building positive school cultures and supporting student success. Manley holds a bachelor's degree in secondary education from Texas A&M University and a master's degree in educational administration from Tarleton State University.

Frank Murray, Chief Technology Officer

Frank Murray has been named chief technology officer for Belton ISD. With more than 25 years of experience in education, he has served as a teacher, coach, technology director, adjunct professor and instructional technology leader.

Murray joined Belton ISD in 2023 as director of instructional technology and campus support. He is known for leading innovative technology initiatives, supporting educators through technology integration and advancing digital learning across the district. Murray holds a bachelor's degree in education from the University of North Texas and a master's degree in educational technology from Midwestern State University.

Community Partner Recognition – Extraco Bank

As we reflect on another successful fifth-grade track meet, we are proud to recognize Extraco Bank as a valued community partner.

Their generous sponsorship of T-shirts for more than 500 fifth-grade students helped make this annual tradition even more memorable. By ensuring every participant received a commemorative shirt, Extraco Bank helped create a shared experience that celebrated students as they wrapped up their elementary school years.

We are grateful for Extraco Bank's continued partnership and the meaningful ways they invest in Belton ISD students and schools.
