Principal/HT/Teacher Reports

Brittany-learning letters as of 2 weeks ago, all is going well

Dana-Marian Wassille came in to teach yupik dance. All is going well with her class.

Jordan-finished growth mindset class

Cara-Things are going well. Her students are working on life skill applications. Students clean itinerant housing, the students will be working in student store to learn employability skills.

Jesse-New fish tank for school. We will be getting 500 fish eggs in to watch over.

Morgan-All students are being super positive and encouraging towards to one another.

Jerry-In-service was good. They learned how to use aides more effectively. Learned more about power school. Attendance is at 90 percent.

Linda-Jesse and Jordan are both teaching classes that are below secondary education levels. They both are doing great with the younger groups.

Community Concerns

Brittany-Do you have a program similar to DARE that can educate our youth about the dangers of drugs and alcohol? We need a program like this in our school for our youth.

- Teachers will look further into this. LSAC is for a program similar to this

Can we start having the standards readily available and in the hands of all the students and parents? Parents would love to see where their child is at and what they are learning, so they can better help them at home. Not only will this help parents, but it will empower the children to want to take charge of their education.

- Jordan says with new powerschool program this will all be available online for all students to see standards

Can we as parents start helping our students pass the soft standards? If so, how do our students present these standards so they can pass?

- Teachers say yes. Have student present these standards met in writing, and other projects

LSAC Moments

Meeting 1:

In attendance: Adam Meade, Levi Tinney, April Apokedak, Glendora Nelson

Agenda: Gym book, Electing a new LSAC board.

Notes: IT was difficult to get LSAC rolling this year because so many people have been out of town and fewer people seem to be interested, the main topic of discussion in this meeting was electing a new board of LSAC members, we decided to hold the election in the student store where people could cast their ballots.

We used the Levelock Bulletin facebook page to ask people to nominate people of their choice to the board so we could create the ballots. Even though we posted the facebook group a week early. We also discussed the need of enforcement of the gym book, this has been an issue with kids sneaking into night gym even when they are on the list.

Meeting 2:

In attendance: Levi Tinney, Adam Meade (and everybody who came to cast their ballots)

Agenda: collect ballots, count the votes to elect the new LSAC board.

Notes: We only had 5 people nominated to the board so basically everybody nominated was elected, we talked and answered a few questions from people but there wasn't much to vote for since there were fewer nominees than there were spaces on the LSAC board.

Our next meeting will probably be this Friday where we can get the new board members (most of whom are old board members in to discuss their concerns.

4. Volleyball: Tanalian School is currently 14-0. They head to Unalakleet this week for a tournament with very competitive schools. Regionals will be held at Tanalian School. Monday begins the 3 on 3 tournaments following with the 6 on 6 tournaments Tuesday and Wednesday. Hoping to be able to live stream the games and Nate will follow up with Sam to find out if we have the technical capabilities.

B. Teachers' Reports:

Kathleen VanDeusen— Has had a full month of paperwork with many annual reviews and an initial assessment. CISA Skype sessions have been going well with students. Kathy is working with ATLA on alarm clocks to help students get going to school in the morning. Teacher Aide system is going well for the school and all students are being covered. Speech therapy sessions online have noticed marked improvement and students are very engaged.

Matthew Grossman – Mentioned that after in-service the teacher's felt worn out due to missing planning period and finding it difficult to collaborate with co-teacher. He and Cam have noticed a tone of mediocrity and not pushing harder with the Jr. High students. They have been discussing how to help this issue. He is feeling more rushed through topics this year and not able to spend the time he wants on certain things.

Brandon Hummel: High School Algebra II was getting behind pace and have adjusted the schedule so kids are getting more contact time with aides to move at a faster pace.

Abigail Wells: Aides are a big help and rotate through the kids due to many different levels in her class. She is joining with Asha's class in the afternoons for several different subjects.

Asha Brown: Have felt the same tone with her students as Matthew mentioned with his. Students have been settling for mediocre work and she has been working with students on goals and graphing them so they can see their own improvements. Math has been fast paced, but feel students are handling it okay. They have been working on rock candy, habitats and plagiarism in research papers.
