Well boys and girls, we all knew this day was coming sooner or later, but I've decided it's time to finally retire. This was a very hard and bittersweet decision to make, as I truly enjoy this job and the people I work with. But I'll turn 70 this summer and that's always been the target date in the back of my mind. I've been blessed to enjoy every job I've ever had (except perhaps for my 9 days as Vice President of Information Systems at College of Saint Mary. To put that in perspective, the person who replaced me only lasted 8 days before resigning. But that's a story best told over a beer on the deck). Arlington will always be the most special, not because it was the last and longest, but because of the staff, community and students. I was made to feel welcome from day one, and that never wavered. I've made lifelong friendships I will always treasure. I'm confident we'll hire someone who will take the school to the next level with technology. As has always been the case, thank you again from the bottom of my heart for your support and patience over the years. Blessings to you all.
Kurt
