Item Title: Magnetic Literacy ELA HQIM Adoption

Responsible Administrator: Michael Hines

Strategic Plan Priority: Academic Success

Background

Arkansas passed SB 349 (2021), which requires alignment to the science of reading. In doing so, it prohibits certain instructional strategies associated with so-called “balanced literacy”, such as the three-cueing system. This relies on building reading proficiency and fluency through external evidence, clues, and educated guesses over pure phonics and decoding strategies.

Benchmark Workshop is our current HQIM for ELA, and next year would be the last year of a six year agreement. Even though we have one more year in the agreement, it has been removed from the state approved list for K-2 instruction due to its use and reliance on practices that go against the science of reading. This necessitated a review of other science of reading aligned options.

The state prioritizes explicit, systematic phonics instruction aligned to the science of reading and evidence-based practices. In an attempt to find an immediate replacement of Benchmark Workshop and to ensure best practices in literacy instruction, we have utilized an HQIM search committee and an HQIM adoption committee.

The search committee was responsible for initially finding and vetting potential curricular ELA resources aligned to the science of reading. This group consisted of Michael Hines, Tracy Dunn, and Jonathan Livermore. We narrowed to four options and presented those to the curriculum adoption committee, which consisted of two teachers from each elementary campus spread evenly among the grade bands. (The full list can be seen below.)

Of special note for full disclosure, Magnetic Literacy was selected for review even though it is still in the EdReports review queue as a newly developed curricular resource. It was selected because it is directly tied to our already approved and implemented foundational literacy resource Magnetic Reading Foundations (supporting K-2 foundational reading “phonics” skills) as well as our iReady literacy diagnostic tool. This information was explicitly shared with the adoption committee beforehand.

The adoption committee was then given time with representatives from each company in person to hear and see how each curricular resource could be used and the materials available. Afterward, they were given additional time (several weeks) to explore them further on their own and present them to the other teachers on each of their campuses. All committee members gave objective rankings for each of the four options based on several areas in a shared Google Form. The overall results were compiled, analyzed, and shared to the committee when we reconvened.

Based on the feedback from the Google Form and a committee discussion, the committee voted to proceed with Magnetic Literacy as their first choice. This was not taken lightly, given that it is still currently being vetted for approval. The justification for their preference rests in two primary factors:

- 1) Magnetic Literacy was the highest rated overall resource from all four reviewed by the committee
- 2) Magnetic Literacy ties in directly to Magnetic Reading Foundations and iReady, both of which our elementary teachers already use.

This committee recommendation required some assurance from Magnetic Literacy before proceeding, as well as further examination of state guidance on HQIM adoption for the upcoming year. On the former issue, Magnetic Literacy agreed to pause payment on a two-year agreement if and until their curricular resource is approved on EdReports and added to the state's approved HQIM list. We can utilize their resources fully with all physical and digital materials for the entirety of the 26-27 school year regardless of the outcome.

This is an important detail, because on the latter issue of state guidance, Arkansas has continued to refine its HQIM approval process and criteria in alignment with the science of reading and the LEARNS Act. As a result, the state-approved list is undergoing current review and revision, including adding expiration dates to currently approved HQIM and requiring review of many others currently on the list. This landscape leads to a natural inclination to pause any long-term adoption.

RSD Board of Education Agenda Abstract

Abstracts serve to provide background information regarding agenda items.

This creates an ethical dilemma in that it is likely prudent to pause on making any large purchases or long-term changes in resources, but it is also an unyielding priority to meet the needs of all students every day, especially with regard to early literacy, science of reading alignment, and strong instructional practices, resources, and materials. Fortunately, Magnetic Literacy's willingness to pause payment if and until approval gives us the opportunity to do both. We do not have to risk financial resources being allocated to a non-approved resource, and we get the opportunity to use a resource that our teachers chose personally, is directly aligned to our current foundational reading HQIM (Magnetic Reading Foundations), and based on our internal review, does not rely on the three-cueing system, focusing on science of reading aligned practices and strategies instead.

Recommended Action

I recommend approving Magnetic Literacy for use as the primary K-4 ELA curricular resource under a two year agreement with the contingency that payment will only be made by RSD if and when it is vetted by EdReports and included on the Arkansas ELA HQIM list.

If approved at any point before June 30, 2027, RSD will pay the quoted price in full. If approved at any point after June 30, 2027, RSD will only be responsible for payment for the second year.

If not approved, RSD will not be responsible for payment at all but will retain all physical and digital materials and licenses through the end of the 2026-2027 school year. Simultaneously, in this scenario, the adoption committee will reconvene and select a new curricular resource from the newly modified Arkansas ELA HQIM list for the following year.
