Stop the Bleed Class

On Friday, February 20, our middle school students had the opportunity to participate in a Stop the Bleed training. This hands-on session focused on how to respond in emergency situations, including how to recognize life-threatening bleeding and what steps to take to help before professional responders arrive. The students were engaged, asked thoughtful questions, and took the responsibility of learning these important skills seriously.

We are incredibly grateful to Connie Ronnebaum for organizing this opportunity for our students, and to Don Hughes with KDOT for sharing his time and expertise to lead the training. Experiences like this give our students practical knowledge and confidence that can truly make a difference.

AES Musicians Selected for Performance Demonstration

A few weeks ago the 4th and 5th grade music class submitted a demo performance of the song "I've a Car" to our music resource platform Musicplayonline. Mrs. Othmer was notified this week that our video was selected to be the performance demonstration for the platform. We are so excited. This platform is used by thousands of music teachers and students! Big congrats to Mrs. Othmer and the 4th and 5th Graders!

Here is a link to the demo, the demo is the third video in the line of videos. Enjoy!

We packed a lot into National FFA Week at Axtell, and it was one of those weeks that reminded you just how much leadership and heart our students bring to the table.

Our Axtell FFA members led this month's Eagle Pals lesson focused on compassion. They organized six disability awareness rotations that gave students a hands-on look at how everyday tasks can feel very different depending on the challenges someone may face.

From fine motor limitations to vision and mobility simulations, students quickly realized that simple things aren't always so simple. It was a powerful way to build empathy and spark meaningful conversations across grade levels.

We were also fortunate to spend time learning from Kansas FFA State Officer Maggie Chandler. She worked with our high school members on how to take an idea that may not be working and rebuild it into something stronger and more effective. That ability to reflect, adjust, and try again is such an important leadership skill. Maggie also met with our junior high students for a workshop that focused on growth, goal setting, and stepping into leadership roles even at a young age.

Of course, it wouldn't be FFA Week without a little fun. Several tractors made the trip to school, which always turns heads and brings a lot of pride to our ag program. Students also took advantage of some beautiful Kansas Natural Resource sunshine to make s'mores outdoors. Who needs a campfire when you have creativity and a little sunlight?

We wrapped up the week with an appreciation breakfast. It was a simple but meaningful way for our FFA members to say thank you and serve others.

A big thank you to our ag teachers and FFA members for the time and effort they put into making the week both fun and impactful. FFA Week at Axtell was a great reminder that agriculture education is about much more than farming. It's about leadership, service, compassion, and community.

Chadron Polka Band Performance – February 27

On Friday, February 27, APS hosted the Chadron Polka Band for a schoolwide performance. Students in multiple grade levels attended.

In addition to performing, the group incorporated brief educational components, sharing information about polka music, instrumentation, and musical traditions. Students were engaged and responsive throughout the program.

Opportunities like this support our efforts to provide well-rounded educational experiences beyond the traditional classroom setting. We appreciate the coordination and community support that helped make this event possible.
