DLI Expansion

- Where are we with the DLI transition plan from last year?
- Updates on non-DLI student placement
 - Due to the academic entry requirements for second grade DLI, it is possible that some students moving into the Garfield boundary area for FY2013-14 would not be eligible to enter their boundary classroom.
 - For next year, new second graders who do not qualify for entry into the DLI program will be placed by the district at Wilson Elementary.
 - Siblings of these students will also be offered seats at Wilson upon parental request (they must complete a transfer form).
 - Children placed at Wilson will stay at Wilson though the 5th grade year unless the parents request and are granted a transfer, subject to any subsequent boundary decisions.

Director Donohue noted that he will again represent 509J on the LBL ESD budget committee and that meetings will begin in April or May.

Sara Gelser; Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction Rob Saxton's visit to 509J; all-day kindergarten at Title schools.

VI. PUBLIC TESTIMONY

Chair Schuster read aloud the directions regarding public testimony.

Hilary Harrison, 7340 NW Monroe, Corvallis, expressed concerns relating to the District's seclusion and restraint policy, including training, defining seclusion and restraint, impact on students, follow-up, documentation, and cross-school awareness.

Carmen Allen, student, read a statement from Board policy regarding equal educational opportunities.

Craig Allen, PO Box 1416, Corvallis, said he repeatedly has pointed out over the last two years that the District places kids in higher level classes based on TAG identification, although Board policy doesn't say anything about TAG. He opined that the District doesn't comply with its equal educational opportunity policy, adding that he has numerous complaints that have not been answered, which he will take public.

Denise Cardinali, 6017 SW Grand Oaks, Corvallis, read from a prepared statement regarding calendar and conference planning. (Ms. Cardinali's full statement is filed in Section V of the 2012-13 Official Board Minutes.) Some of the points she raised included: evaluate conferences separately from the calendar; separate conferences from prep time; use spring conferences to gather data; solve the problems with Pinnacle.

VIII. SPECIAL REPORTS

A. PLC – CVHS Language Arts/English

CVHS Principal Cherie Stroud and teachers April Turple and Sarah Blount, provided a PowerPoint presentation regarding the work of the Language Arts Department's Professional Learning Community (PLC). (Filed as Supplemental Item #V-11 in the Official 2012-13 Board Minutes.)

Some of the points raised and responses to Board member questions included:

- Most PLC time this year has been focused on issues related to shifts in the Common Core State Standards (CCSS) and what that does in our curriculum guides.
- PLC has provided time to put our heads together to come up with best practices for individual students.

- Have been able to share strategies, systems and books with each other.
- Have been using the Academic Options (AO) time for some of the interventions.
- Starting interventions in elementary school is important; looking at the whole K-12 system, and communicating among all of the levels.
- Next steps include looking at how the interventions can start at earlier levels, so that when students are moving from level to level, the interventions are in place.
- We've been using our SMART goals, school goals and department goals to inform our PLC time.
- We use the entire PLC time every week; there's never a lack of things to work on.
- We've been able to focus on department work and it's been very valuable for our students.
- The six staff members in our PLC are there on a regular basis, even those who work part time; we make it work because it's so important.
- We have adapted our PLC work to address the major needs of students, including those with disabilities and those who are English Language Learners.
- We had started our work by focusing on getting our seniors through all of the requirements but we're also focusing on common language/terms school-wide.
- CV has a great goal about writing across the curriculum. This already has led to collaborations among language arts, science, social studies and health. The school-wide presence of the writing scoring guide has been very helpful.
- This is the first time we've had a large number of students not meet graduation requirements; if they haven't demonstrated proficiency, they'll be classified as "nongrads". There's been discussion about a 5th year of high school.
- "Image grammar" is a way to teach grammar that associates a visual piece with actual grammar; it's a richness in the writing and a way to spice up one's writing.

Director Rochester commented that kids learn writing by writing; it takes a lot of time and is a very intense process for teachers.

B. Freshman Failure Rate And Graduation Rate

CHS Principal Matt Boring led review of his school's data. (Filed as Supplemental Item #V-12 in the Official 2012-13 Board Minutes.)

Some of his comments and responses to Board member questions included:

- The statewide graduation rate is the same as it has been forever.
- Oregon has the worst graduation rate for white students, let alone students of color.
- Will be talking about math interventions next year like we are talking about writing this year.
- Discussed the need to change the "instructional lottery" that currently exists.
- Alignment between both high schools will be very helpful.

• I don't think we've failed to do what we're supposed to do, we haven't tried to do it differently.

- Proponents of proficiency talk about how time is such a variable but it isn't.
- Whether students have met standards or not, they show up on our door.
- Right now, we're expending so much of our energy on seniors.

CVHS Principal Cheri Stroud noted that it would also help to have a consistent K-12 math intervention that follows students from level to level.

Vice Chair Sauret asked what diagnostics are being used to find out where the problems are; whether an examination is being done to see if there's a core problem that needs to be fixed before we can further address the trouble. Mr. Boring said he is unable to answer that. He added that there are some kids who don't do well with computerized tests because they've never been assessed that way before. For half of the English Language Development students, it's not a math problem at all, it's reading of the language around math; we're looking at putting some support into the Algebra 1A class next year to help with the language barrier.

CVHS Principal Cherie Stroud, Assistant Principal Melissa Harder, and counselors Robbie Cox and Annika Mauelshagen led review of their school's data. (Filed as Supplemental Item #V-13 in the Official 2012-13 Board Minutes.)

Some of their comments and responses to Board member questions included:

- Students are allowed to take the OAKS reading test three times per year; they may take the OAKS writing test just once.
- Teachers are working so diligently with these students.
- Our number one job is to provide hope; no one at the school will ever give up on providing hope and encouragement; that's what gets us through each day.
- We need something to bridge the gap between 8th and 9th grade; I'd focus on what can we do over the summer.
- For some students who are struggling from the beginning of high school, it would be realistic to consider extending the time then, rather than having a mad rush at the end of four years. The Smarter Balanced test in math will only exacerbate this problem; it's very difficult.
- Regarding setting the stage from day one, although I would love those options, they are lacking. We are excited about our relationship with LBCC and more viable extended options beyond that 4th year.
- It would be valuable to offer students something for the 5th year; that would keep some students from dropping out.
- It's hard for middle school students to feel like what they do really matters because they feel they're going to move on no matter what. Sometimes they're not ready academically when they come to high school and sometimes they're not ready emotionally and socially.

• When economically disadvantaged kids are so worried about safety, hunger, etc. at home, keeping up with their studies isn't at the top of their list.

- We need to utilize electives, vocational education, and career and technical education (CTE) more.
- Regarding special education, we have far more students completing high school with a modified diploma, which isn't counted in our graduation rate; they're even identifying that in the 9th grade.

C. State Representative Sara Gelser – New Bills

Representative Gelser provided a presentation about HJR7and compression. (Filed as Supplemental Item #V-14 in the Official 2012-13 Board Minutes.)

Some of her comments and responses to Board member questions included:

- The Legislature will be looking at a variety of bills relating to facilities and facilities task forces as a way to hopefully provide assistance to districts.
- A hearing will be held next week around technology, including policies allowing personal electronic devices in schools, and matching money for technology investment.
- Our committee is trying to move beyond this as a discussion about the achievement gap. It's an opportunity gap; some kids just haven't got the same opportunities as other kids.
- A hearing was held Friday around seclusion and restraint. A lot of the work around definitions has been done at the state level.
- Although I'm a proponent of full day kindergarten, I voted against the bill; however, a district would be foolish not to implement full-day kindergarten because other districts will.
- We spend $1,000 less per student now than in 1990-91.
- The Board should ask all its legislators to look at these pieces and the long term impact on schools in terms of fairness, adequacy, stability, simplicity, and political feasibility.

Director Rochester opined that the needs and ballot measures of the City of Corvallis work at cross purposes with the district's and create voter fatigue.

IX. BETSY MILLER-JONES – OREGON SCHOOL BOARDS ASSOCIATION

Betsy Miller-Jones, Executive Director of OSBA, had met earlier in the day with the Board Chair and Vice Chair, and Superintendent Prince to talk about the work of the District this year. As the hour was late and Ms. Miller-Jones had received a full briefing before the Board meeting, she offered to forego her conversation with the Board; she said she welcomed independent communication from any Board member on questions, topics of interest, or concerns.

Director Rochester said that Crescent Valley High School will host a regional orchestra festival this weekend, and that there will be a school concert this Thursday evening.

V. STUDENT REPRESENTATIVE REPORTS

Mr. Potts noted that the production of "Oliver" is in its third week, and that he is one of the actors in the play. The CHS robotics team got 3rd in the recent regional event, and its robot received the honor of best climber.

Mr. Takamori said CV student Kushal Agarwal received the Siemens Award for Advanced Placement. The CV robotics and chess teams got first place in their respective state championships.

VI. SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

Dr. Prince's report included: congratulations to CV's chess and robotics teams for their championship wins; congratulations to CHS's robotics team for making it to the semi-finals and winning the Imagery Award; congratulations to Mariah Morales, recipient of the Boys & Girls Club of Corvallis Youth of the Year Award, and to Ciera Self and Jeny Marquez, who were runners-up; thanks and farewell to Director Donohue.

VII. PUBLIC TESTIMONY

Peter Leung, 2605 SW Leonard Street, Corvallis, requested formation of a committee to look into issues of CHS being a learning-centered institution; he offered his assistance in the committee's work. He talked a little about his experience in the District and said his goal is to improve the education system for economically disadvantaged students, for students who don't graduate, for fairness and equity, and for empathy, compassion and humanity.

Craig Allen, PO Box 1416, Corvallis, said he plans to run for election to the school board. He said he has spoken in the past in both open session and executive session of the Board regarding equal educational opportunities. He referenced placement criteria and talked about his daughter's OAKS score, which he said met graduation requirements but didn't allow her to take a challenge course. He expressed a desire to influence the system as a board member.

Kathy Pusztavari, 2913 NW Lincoln, Corvallis, noted that in the 1970s and 1980s the federal study "Project Follow Through" compared the efficacy of many different curriculums; direct instruction proved to be the most effective for students of low socio-economic status. She said she has used a line of direct instruction products for many years with her son, who has autism; all autism experts outside of Oregon point to DI SRA but it's not used in Oregon because it's scripted. She encouraged the District to use DI SRA products for RTI, etc.

VIII. STAFF TESTIMONY

No testimony was given.

IX. SPECIAL REPORTS

A. PLC Report – Linus Pauling Middle School

LPMS Principal Eric Beasley, Assistant Principal Marcianne Koetje, and teachers Chaundra Smith, Dan Bowdoin, and Laura Delp provided a PowerPoint presentation regarding the work of the Intervention Team's Professional Learning Community (PLC). (Filed as Supplemental Item #V-15 in the Official 2012-13 Board Minutes.)

Some of the points raised and responses to Board member questions included:

- RTI (Response to Intervention) is a proactive approach; it is a framework for prevention and early intervention.
- The team has been trying to build in supports at all levels.
- Each referral takes approximately 45 minutes; the reduction in total referrals represents more time for kids.
- Mr. Bowdoin spends hours every night recording himself teaching so that his students can access the lessons via iPad.
- Can't just address the intervention; need to address the core.
- Desire to increase time for math instruction.
- We don't have an aligned PLC time with our elementary feeder schools but we are talking about it.
- Proficiency is a promising practice to help struggling students, as are sheltered instruction strategies.
- Using instructional technology helps differentiation; it allows kids to get feedback in a responsive way.
- Other creative solutions include peer tutors, a before-school math class, having some hard conversations with kids who are not proficient, doing a studio day and watching two different teachers give instruction and then having discussion groups.
- I keep coming back to the variable of minutes; we've got to figure out how to catch those 6th graders and still have some math labs for 7th graders.
- There's a correlation that if you're struggling with reading you're going to struggle with math.
- We look for the greatest need: reading or math; reading always takes precedence.
- We've been doing a SIOP (Sheltered Instruction Observation Protocol) refresher this year; the premise is building in reading, writing, listening, and speaking goals along with the concept goals.

- The struggle is not enough minutes in the day.
- We want to keep expectations high and scaffold kids up to them.
- All of the things we're doing are in collaboration with Cheldelin (Read 180, SIOP, etc.).

Director Rochester offered the following compliments:

- I'm very impressed with the job that you and your team have done in a short period of time.
- LPMS was one of our two schools most in need of good, coherent thinking; you and your people have clearly brought that and are clearly bringing more.
- I'm very impressed by how seriously you're all thinking about these problems.
- You and your staff have done a remarkable job in turning around a particularly complicated situation; I am immensely encouraged by that.

Director Donohue asked if there had been any attempt to send something comprehensive and useable with students to high school to show what interventions have been tried and where they've worked, as well as where students' strengths/weaknesses are. Mr. Beasley responded that staff created their own document; when grade level teams meet, weekly, interventions that have been implemented are recorded. It is still a stretch for integration between PLC and intervention; however, a staff member on the math team carries information to the intervention team. Ms. Smith added that a District-level RTI advisory committee is being formed with the goal of creating a system such that interventions for children starting in elementary school will be communicated to the following levels in a clear, coherent manner.

Director Ball asked if staff have looked at students based on what elementary school they're coming from to see if there are systematic differences across our elementary schools. Mr. Beasley responded that they are not, specifically, but they look at the data from the schools, especially as they get into the forecasting process; there are issues that follow low socioeconomic status.

Director Ball asked what the school would be willing to give up in next year's budget if there are not sufficient resources to provide an extra .50 FTE that the school was hoping to get. Mr. Beasley responded that, as evidenced during last year's budgeting process, staff is able to make some hard decisions. He noted the school's high mobility as a complicating factor; there were 150 students going in and out of LPMS last year.

B. Special Education Task Force Action Plan/Update

Assistant Superintendent Kevin Bogatin and Student Services Coordinators Amy Lesan and Sally McAfee provided a PowerPoint presentation regarding the Special Education Task Force Action Plan. (Filed as Supplemental Item #V-16 in the Official 2012-13 Board Minutes.)

Mr. Bogatin recognized committee members, adding that there were a lot of people who assisted even though their names are not reflected in the action plan. He briefly outlined the five goals of the action plan:

- 1. Beginning the 2014-15 school year, the district will fully implement RTI systems K-12 in behavior, language arts, and math.
- 2. In addition to establishing RTI systems for behavior (in Goal 1), establish systems to support staff with difficult student behavior and to foster community partnerships.
- 3. Develop a vision for our Life Skills programs and align our strategies to this vision.
- 4. Establish a district wide system for assistive technology acquisition and implementation.
- 5. In addition to establishing RTI systems for curriculum (Goal 1), the district will align special education services with general education services.

Director Donohue opined that PLCs seem to be a natural fit within the implementation of the action plan; he asked how the resources we have will be used to make this happen on a systemic level. Ms. Lesan responded that Lincoln's PLCs do this at their meetings; there are other models that are also working and the District will pull them in for input on how we can make this work K-12. Ms. McAfee added that a lot of the Tier 2 interventions begin in the classroom; PLCs can have a big impact. She noted that it's not all about intervention, it's about what we're doing in the core; those PLC teams are critical. Mr. Bogatin noted that special education is a label we apply, so the failure of special education students isn't just around special education teachers.

Chair Schuster opined that the merging of the two departments (Instructional Services and Student Services) really comes through with this presentation. Mr. Bogatin responded that it clearly comes through that the issues we see in special education and in the District as a whole are not that narrow; they're much wider and more complicated. Dr. Prince added that what Director Donohue is talking about is fidelity, including continuous support to maintain fidelity.

Vice Chair Sauret said a lot of the failures that we see relate to communication between general education and special education staffs; the coordination needs to work across all the teachers in the district. He added that he hears concerns from parents "how come they didn't know my child had these needs?" We need to find out what those needs are. Mr. Bogatin noted the need for ongoing training. He said there is a lot currently being done and a lot of issues that aren't in the action plan; we may need to develop a more articulated plan with SEAC (Special Education Advisory Committee).

Chair Schuster referred to Vice Chair Sauret's comments and asked Mr. Beasley whether the cross-communication happens at LPMS. Mr. Beasley responded that his special education staff prepare cliff notes for each student but it's still hard. A lot of the students have needs such as life skills, language, etc. The teachers have a lot on their plates; they need training, resources and curriculum, which will help teachers differentiate instruction. Also, Corvallis has a real dichotomy – kids in the high end too; we need to address the issues for both ranges.

Director Rochester said he noted in both of tonight's presentations the importance of the classroom, and focusing on the classroom rather than the interventions outside of it; it seems to be blindingly obvious that this is where resources probably need to be stepped up. Mr. Beasley added that collaboration between home and classroom is critical; when we get good collaboration, tremendous things happen.

Director Ball expressed concern that goal #1 refers to the 2014-15 school year instead of 2013-14. Mr. Bogatin noted that the goal refers to full implementation. He said we're doing RTI as we speak but there are some things that are missing; in 2014-15, we will be consistent in every building and every level across the District. There are a lot of steps to get in place next year. Dr. Prince said that one of the most important things for her is the unanimous agreement by the Leadership Team that RTI is a must, including full commitment to it and universal screening, and its use in the buildings; that support was critical for us to have in order to get to full implementation in 2014-15. Mr. Bogatin clarified that RTI can be used to identify special education students; it's implied in the action plan that we would want to get to that point.

Director Ball referred to the portion of goal #1 regarding data collection software and asked if the implementation is dependent on the new system that the ESD is procuring, and if 2013 is really a realistic implementation timeline. Mr. Singleton, Technology Services Manager, said October 2013 would be when the training process begins and we develop the ability to answer our own questions. He added that he has heard that by October we would start testing the data coming out and it would be available for people to evaluate but we would still be on a learning curve; to have a full reporting capability that relates to everything in this plan would be a bit ambitious but the pieces to do that would be in place. Ms. McAfee said staff will be having conversations with the ESD about its capability in supporting the needs of our teachers; if we don't feel confident that we can come out of it with a program that will meet our needs, then we will have to look at some other software programs. Director Ball asked if the software would have the capability to reduce the red tape issue; Mr. Bogatin responded that it probably wouldn't in this particular area.

C. Technology Update

Assistant Superintendent Kevin Bogatin, Technology Services Manager Rob Singleton, and Instructional Services Coordinators Amy Lesan and Sally McAfee provided a PowerPoint presentation regarding the technology plan. (Filed as Supplemental Item #V-17 in the Official 2012-13 Board Minutes.)

Some of the points raised included:

- We were invited by Apple to participate in an executive briefing, at which we will learn how to go about implementing a 1:1 program in our district.
- We see this as an opportunity to develop a plan to achieve the transformational level.

• We're also planning a visit to Vancouver, WA, in May to visit their iTech Preparatory STEM high school and middle school.

- After last year's presentation on textbooks, we had Pearson, McGraw, and Houghton Mifflin come and talk with us about themselves. They were clearly doing a sales job; whereas, Apple was asking questions like "what do you want your graduates to look like?"
- The old methodology was "let's train up our teachers and when they're ready, let's get them the technology." Now, we're looking at giving kids the technology; then, the teachers will come along.
- If we wait for every teacher to be ready, we will never be ready.
- The kids will help you redefine because they need you to redefine; we're looking at this as a way to open the door to that.

Board member comments included:

- Districts that have done a 1:1 first figure out what they want to do and then go and get the technology as the tool to get there. We should first ask "what are the educational goals that we want to change?"
- Regarding the budgeting issue, PCs can run for many years but when a battery is gone on an iPad, the iPad is done for good.
- If you run out of money for textbooks, you can go another year without textbooks, but with iPads, you can't.
- I want to make sure we're not just giving kids TV shows, textbooks, etc., that they'd get in the classroom.
- I want them to be able to do things they cannot do in the classroom, not the traditional pedagogies that they're getting every day.
- The real promise of this visit to Apple is that they are asking "what do you want from us?"
- Buying iPads to do what we've always done is not good enough; it should be to provide interventions far beyond the traditional classrooms.
- I want to know from Apple "is the sky the limit?"
- Apple is such a remarkable, intelligent company; if you're not careful, you can quickly become euphoric.
- The technologies can be very presumptive; I don't want us to get defined into narrow boundaries.
- Determine what we wish to accomplish; Apple will have something that will serve us.
- I believe that Apple really wants to know what we want from them; they won't just go off and build a slightly better pair of boots.
- I want to get something better; I want to get moving but it has to make sense in what we want to accomplish.
- There's a bill pending in the legislature that will require every board to adopt a policy to allow students to bring their own devices to schools. If it passes, it'll set us up with a new set of incentives. It gives us an opportunity to look at other options than we've looked at before.

- I don't think we're in the financial position to buy an iPad for every kid; but neither are we in a position to have iPads that just sit on the carts at school.
- Make sure that the plan doesn't just focus on one way of getting there: the district writing an enormous check.
- Don't get locked in to a limited curriculum; allow us to shift gears.
- Look at cost and risk management issues.
- Look at the range of capability; what issues we have to know when implementing these in the working world.
- Think about the number of policies that we will need to change.

X. RESIGNATION OF DIRECTOR DONOHUE

Director Donohue announced his resignation from the Board, effective at the end of this meeting. (Filed as Supplemental Item #III-7 of the 2012-13 Official Board Minutes.) His resignation is a result of his appointment as a Benton County Circuit Court judge.

IX.D. Muddy Creek Charter School Contract Amendment

FOR ACTION

BOARD MEETING DATE: April 8, 2013

SUBJECT: Muddy Creek Charter School Contract Amendment

BACKGROUND INFORMATION:

The Corvallis School District and Muddy Creek Charter School are currently operating based upon contract agreements from July 1, 2011 through June 30, 2014. Part of that agreement includes provisions regarding its student population capacity. The following is language from the contract:

Section 5.2 Student Population Cap.

The total number of full-time students enrolled at the Charter School while it serves K-5 shall be no greater than 90 students. At no time during the term of this contract shall the Charter School's student population exceed 90 full-time equivalent students without written approval from the district. If any additional grades above the fifth grade level are added to the Charter School the Charter School's student population will not exceed 110 full-time equivalent students.

In February, Muddy Creek Charter School requested to expand its capacity to 100 full-time equivalent students to allow two grades per teacher configuration. Kindergarten students count as .5 FTE in this calculation. This would be considered a one-year agreement. The District and Muddy Creek Charter School will enter contract negotiations next fall for contract renewal.

ACTION REQUESTED:

Authorize Muddy Creek Charter School to expand its student population cap to 100 full-time equivalent (K = .5) students for FY2013-14 only.

IX.E. Gymnasium Bleacher Purchase for Crescent Valley High School

BOARD MEETING DATE: April 8, 2013

SUBJECT: Gymnasium Bleacher Purchase for Crescent Valley High School

EXPLANATION:

In November of 2012, the District closed eight banks of mobile gymnasium bleachers at Crescent Valley High School because they were determined to be unsafe for continued use. Principal Cherie Stroud and Athletic Director Craig Ellingson worked closely with District staff to make alternate arrangements through the remainder of the basketball season.

Since then, District and School staff have worked together to plan for replacement bleachers. We have decided to replace the previous mobile bleachers with a combination of wall mounted bleachers on the west wall and four mobile units to provide continued flexibility in gymnasium configuration. Through our own experience and additional reference checks, we selected Interkal bleachers for purchase because of their proven safety and performance standards and low operating costs.

Purchasing requirements have been met by joining the King County Director's Association (KCDA) purchasing cooperative. KCDA has provided competitive bidding and contracts that can be utilized by Corvallis School District to purchase Interkal Bleachers through Northwest School Equipment.

Funding for the bleachers will be provided via our Insurance Fund. The budget appropriations for the Crescent Valley High School Roof Replacement Project were under budget and appropriations are available to cover the cost of $205,000 for replacement bleachers.

Approval of the purchase of the bleachers at the April 8, 2013 board meeting will allow sufficient time to have the bleachers delivered and installed during the month of August. In anticipation of the new bleachers, the maintenance department has worked with Crescent Valley staff to schedule drum sanding and refinishing of the gymnasium floor prior to delivery. The floor refinishing will be funded by the maintenance department general fund budget.

Presenter: Steve Nielsen, Business Services Director

Kim Patten, Maintenance Supervisor

Supplementary Materials: None

Motion Requested: I move that the board authorize staff to purchase Interkal bleachers for Crescent Valley High School through the King County Director's Association Purchasing Cooperative in the amount of $205,000.

X.B. Unaudited Financial Statements - February 28, 2013

FOR INFORMATION

BOARD MEETING DATE: April 8, 2013

SUBJECT: February 28, 2013, Financial Statements (Unaudited)

General Fund

The Statement of Revenues and Expenditures for the periods ending February 28, 2012, and 2013, reflect activity is tracking within budgeted parameters. FY2012-13 year-to-date revenues are $40.2 million, 81.1 percent of budget, as compared to FY2011-12 revenues of $42.6 million, or 83.4 percent. FY2012-13 year-to-date expenditures are $31.6 million, 61.0 percent of budget, as compared to the prior year of $29.8 million, 54.8 percent of budget.

Current Highlights

Revenues

Of note this month is the February 15, 2013, maturity of the $2.7 US Bancorp commercial paper investment. This positions the District's portfolio of $39.0 million 100% completely in the State of Oregon Local Government Investment Pool (LGIP). This is below the current LGIP maximum of $45.4 million and within the District's investment policy which allows for 100% portfolio placement in the LGIP.

The LGIP provides a safe and competitive option for local governments. LGIP portfolio holdings are aligned with the Oregon Short Term Fund rules which place safety as the foremost objective. The weighted average credit quality is AA. The earnings rate from March 2012 through January 2013 was 0.60 percent. Effective February 2013, the rate decreased to 0.54 percent, still very competitive for daily access of funds. In addition, the cost charged to administer the LGIP is 0.003 percent, below what local governments would expect to pay a private firm for services.

Expenditures

Last year's February report included information on the Special Education Maintenance Effort requirement which mandates within defined parameters an equivalent level of expenditures must be made for this current fiscal year as compared to the prior year for special education services. The District is in compliance with this mandate.

This month we introduce another Special Education mandate entitled Excess Cost. This federal requirement states that an equivalent level of expenditures for the regular education of Special Education students must be provided as is for regular students before the additional federal IDEA grant funds are eligible for expenditure. See the definition of Excess Cost as provided by ODE:

Definition: Excess costs are those costs for the education of an elementary school or secondary school student with a disability that are in excess of the average annual per student expenditure in an LEA during the preceding school year for an elementary school or secondary school student, as may be appropriate. An LEA must spend at least the average annual per student expenditure on the education of an elementary school or secondary school child with a disability before funds under Part B of the Act are used to pay the excess costs of providing special education and related services (34 CFR §300.16).

The District submitted our report for FY2011-12 demonstrating compliance.

Previously Reported Highlights

Revenues

Property tax turnovers by Benton and Linn counties follow the payments due dates in November, February and May. Most receipts, about 87 percent, typically are received in November. General property tax receipts as of February 28, 2013 note revenues at 88.5 percent and local option tax receipts at 80.9 percent of budget. The impact of compression on the local option tax is noted in previously reported highlights below.

The timing of the receipt of property taxes creates a temporary surplus of cash. Cash requirements are closely monitored to ensure there are adequate funds to draw on to cover payroll and accounts payable transactions. The best option for investing cash varies with economic times. Presently, the Local Government Investment Pool (LGIP) offers the best return while maintaining policy compliance yielding 0.54 percent. Investment benchmarks as of February 28, 2013 include a three-month U. S. Treasury bill at 0.10 percent and a three-month jumbo certificate of deposit at 0.05 percent.

September 2011 revenues included the receipt of $1.39 million from the state for the FY2011-12 School Year Subaccount (SYS Fund). The SYS Fund was a one-time appropriation last year by the state legislature of $100 million from the Education Stability Fund for the purpose of supporting smaller class sizes or for the enhancement of learning opportunities. The SYS Funds were distributed to school districts in a lump sum in September rather than spread over the school year and we will not receive any SYS funds this year.

State revenues for general support for FY2012-13 reflects the adjustment for decreased enrollment for the prior year incorporated into the state funding formula. The district planned the FY2012-13 budget accordingly and the revenue is on track with budgeted expectations.

The district has received the county assessors' Notification of Property Taxes Imposed for FY2012-13. The Local Option Levy continues to be impacted by compression due to decreases in the gap between real market values and assessed values. The district budgeted $4,541,500 for Local Option Levy, and the imposed amount is $4,211,840. This is $384,000 less than last year's imposed amount and $330,000 less than budgeted. Updated projections forecast total collections at $4.1 million. This will be watched closely throughout the year and into the future as it impacts the next fiscal year.

Interest earnings are $28,259 higher than the prior year-to-date due to an increase in the Local Government Investment Pool rate from 0.5 percent to 0.6 percent through January 2013 along with the General Fund cash balance is a higher proportion of the District's total cash on hand. Reductions in other funds' cash balances over time include the $6 million payment to PERS in June 2011 to aid in lowering PERS rates, $1.6 million prepayment on Pension Obligation bonds in June 2011, and $3.5 million for the Crescent Valley High School roof project this fiscal year. Pooled interest earnings are allocated proportionally by each fund's cash balances.

Corvallis School District 509J Board of Directors

Other Local Revenues as of February 28, 2013 are ahead of the prior year by $29,435 mainly due to the receipt of E-Rate funds. The receipt of these funds is on a variable basis and we expect to see continued timing fluctuations.

Expenditures

General Fund expenditures are higher than the prior year which would typically not be expected with a smaller budget. The significant portion of the increase is due to timing differences including the change of paycheck distribution from 12 checks per year to 10 as bargained for Certified and most Classified staff as well as the purchase of textbooks, technology and supplies.

Instruction expenditures include the charter school payments to Muddy Creek through February 28, 2013, which increased by $83,189 due to increased enrollment and funding.

Supporting Services expenditures experienced an increase of $78,396 over the prior February 28, 2012 year-to-date. The district worked on non-routine maintenance including CHS bleacher updates, modular classroom roof replacements, and removal of a large tree at CVHS. Projects such as these happen every year and are managed within budget appropriations.

Community Services expenditures in the current February 28, 2013 year-to-date are $62,933 as compared to the prior year-to-date of $38,784, an increase of $24,209. In the prior year, the Foundation Director position was filled later in the year resulting in lower expenditures.

If you have any questions regarding the financial statements or would like additional information please contact me.
